

Shropshire Way Waymarkers

A variety of “old” Shropshire Way waymarkers can still be found. They all use a buzzard logo where the direction its “nose” points indicates the direction of the path. These waymarkers can still be found mainly in the northern sections of the path.

On the newly upgraded southern Shropshire Hills section you will find a new type of waymarker. This is an arrow with a small logo in the middle. Here the direction of the arrow indicates the direction of the path.

Remember—stand in front of the stile or gate and the waymarker will tell you which way to go AFTER you have crossed it!
